Dear parents' and carers

RE: Teacher assessed grades and the appeals process

I am writing to you to give you more detail on the appeals process regarding the Teacher Assessed Grades.

How were my / my child's grades arrived at this year?

Grades this summer were based on Teacher Assessed Grades (TAGs). TAGs were submitted to the exam boards by us as a holistic assessment of students' performance in a subject, following a rigorous process of assessment, moderation and quality assurance. These grades were then approved by the relevant exam board, following external quality assurance checks.

In some cases, we may be asked to submit an alternative grade by the examination board, following this review. However, any changes to the grades we submit will be done through professional dialogue between teachers or reviewers; this year no grades have been changed as a result of an algorithm.

What do I do if I'm not happy with my / my child's grade?

All students have the opportunity to appeal their grade if they meet the eligibility criteria (see below). It is important to note that an appeal may result in a grade being lowered, staying the same, or going up. So, if a student puts in an appeal and their grade is lowered, they will receive the lower mark.

There is also the option to resit GCSEs, A levels and some AS levels in the autumn, which may be preferable to some students. The design, content and assessment of these papers will be the same as in a normal year.

What should I do before appealing?

Students must read the JCQ Student and Parent guide before appealing, which will be available on the JCQ website by results days.

We may not be able to offer as much advice and guidance on the likely success of an appeal this summer as we would in normal years, as we have already moderated, and quality assured all the grades ourselves.

What are the two stages of an appeal?

All appeals must first go through a centre review. At this stage, we will check for any administrative errors, and check that our policies and procedures were followed correctly. Our policy has already been approved by the exam boards, so we are only ensuring that we followed this properly.

The outcome of the centre review will be communicated to students when made.

At the centre review stage, if we find that a grade should go up or down, we will ask the exam board to change it. They will then consider this request.

Following the outcome of a centre review, students may still choose to pursue an awarding organisation appeal. They must fill in the form below, which we will then send on their behalf to the exam boards. Students and parents cannot send appeals directly to the exam board themselves – it must come from us.

The outcome of the awarding organisation appeal will be communicated to students when made.

What are the grounds for appeal?

To summarise, there are four specific grounds for appeal, as dictated by the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ). They are:

Stage 1 – Centre Review

- You think we have made an administrative error: an example of this would be putting the wrong information into a spreadsheet.
- You think we have made a procedural error: this means we have not properly followed our own process, as approved by the exam board.

• We strive to fulfil everyone's learning potential. • We value high standards, hard work and a ceaseless desire to improve.
• We provide a safe, kind, nurturing and inclusive environment. • We enjoy the journey together.

Stage 2 – Awarding Organisation Review

- You think the academic judgement on the selection of evidence was unreasonable: you think the evidence used to grade you was not reasonable.
- You think the academic judgement on the grade you were given was unreasonable.

[Please Note: We have already contacted those students who told us they were worried about the evidence that would be used to explain why we will still use it or to make a suitable adjustment if the worry was valid.].

What does ‘unreasonable’ mean?

‘Unreasonable’ is a technical term in this context and means that no educational professional acting reasonably could have selected the same evidence or come up with the same grade.

This means that just because other forms of evidence may have been equally valid to use, the selection of evidence is not unreasonable. Because of the flexibility of the approach this year, every school and college will have used different forms of evidence. It also means that the independent reviewers will not remark or grade students’ evidence. Instead, they will look to see whether any teacher acting reasonably would have arrived at the same grade.

How do I make an appeal?

Following results days, students should fill in the first section of the JCQ form here and send it to our dedicated exams email address: dgregory@nottinghamgirlsacademy.org

What will be the outcome of an appeal?

At either stage of the appeals process (see ‘What are the two stages of an appeal?’ below), a student’s grade may go up, stay the same, or go down. When placing an appeal, the student will have to sign a declaration saying that they accept the fact their grade may go down and they may get a lower grade than their original TAG.

What is a priority appeal?

Priority appeals will be handled more quickly than other appeals, where possible before UCAS’s advisory deadline of 8 September 2021.

Priority appeals are only open to A level students starting university this autumn, who have missed out on the conditions of their firm or insurance offer.

If you decided not to confirm a firm conditional offer and to go through clearing instead, JCQ cannot offer you a priority appeal. JCQ cannot offer priority appeals for GCSE students, unfortunately.

- We strive to fulfil everyone’s learning potential. • We value high standards, hard work and a ceaseless desire to improve.
 - We provide a safe, kind, nurturing and inclusive environment. • We enjoy the journey together.

When making a priority appeal, students will have to include their UCAS number so it can be confirmed that it is a genuine priority appeal.

What are the deadlines for priority appeals?

The suggested deadline for requesting a priority appeal is 16 August 2021 (students cannot appeal before results day on 10 August 2021).

We will attempt to complete the centre review by 20 August 2021¹. If students wish to progress this to an awarding organisation appeal, they must send the completed form to us by 23 August 2021 for priority appeals.

What are the deadlines for non-priority appeals?

Non-priority appeals are any A levels, GCSEs, or vocational qualifications, where a firm or insurance university place is not pending.

The deadline for submitting a centre review is 3 September 2021; and the deadline for submitting an awarding organisation appeal is 10 September 2021.

Appeals received after these dates may still be considered.

What should I do if I do not get into my first choice of university?

First, do not panic. Speak to staff about your options. You may wish to go through clearing or sit the autumn exams or summer exams next year to try to improve your grade.

If you are going to appeal your grade, you must let your university know you are appealing.

They will then let you know whether they will hold a place for you pending the outcome of an appeal (note that universities are not obliged to hold a place for you; this is at their discretion).

You know my / my child's grades. Why can't you tell us? What if you know we have not met our university conditional offer?

We are forbidden from disclosing the Teacher Assessed Grades to any third party, including students and parents, until results days. Any teacher or member of staff who does this is committing exam malpractice.

¹ At both stages of the appeals process, there may be the need for specialist, expert knowledge (e.g., subject teachers, SEND knowledge). This may not be possible in August. In such cases, we may have to wait until the start of term, but priority appeals will still be treated as a priority.

Although students may have been given marks or grades on single pieces of evidence, we cannot disclose the final submitted TAG.

During the external quality assurance process taking place in June or July, our submitted TAGs may be moved up or down (although this will always be done through human agency, not by an algorithm).

We only know what a student's conditional offer is if they have chosen to share that information with us. It has not formed part of our objective grading of students. Where we do know this information, we must not let students know their submitted TAGs, even if they have not met the conditions of their offer.

I hope that this information provides further clarity for you.

Yours sincerely,

Mr Ahmad
Deputy Principal
